FOREWORD

The following tributes to Professor Charles L. B. Lowndes, James B. Duke Professor of Law, are presented in recognition of his many meaningful contributions to the academic and personal experiences of those who entered his sphere of influence. The Duke Law Journal owes a special debt to Mr. Lowndes for his assistance to our publication as advisor, critic, and contributor. The opportunity to enjoy a special relationship to his constant striving for analytical precision bears benefits the value of which is immeasurable.
