HONESTY AND COMPETITION: FALSE ADVERTISING LAW AND POLICY UNDER FTC ADMINISTRATION. By George O. Alexander. Syracuse: Syracuse University Press, 1967. Pp. xv, 315. $10.00.

Professor Alexander examines the role of the F.T.C. in regulating deceptive advertising practices and finds that in its zeal to stamp out consumer deception the F.T.C. has sometimes lost sight of its other responsibility—to preserve a competitive economy.

JUSTICE AND THE PRESS. By John Lofton. Boston: Beacon Press, 1966. Pp. viii, 462. Paperback, $2.95.

The theme of this book, first published prior to the recent adoption of standards on fair trial and free press by the ABA House of Delegates, and only recently made available in paperback form, is that the conflict between the press and the bar is not a necessary adjunct of our legal system, but arises out of mutual distrust spawned by past failures on both sides diligently to adhere to the standards of due process.

THE LAW REVOLT. By Melvin M. Belli. Belleville, Illinois: Trial Lawyers Service Co., 1968. Two Volumes. Pp. xxviii, 1126.

The thesis of this "capsulized corpus juris to show us what's happened to our law" is that since 1952 drastic changes have occurred in our law which have made it more relevant to modern society. The author promises that "this is a 'swinging' law book," and its coverage swings from search and seizure to "animal law" to "the tax lawyer."

THE LAWYER AND HIS COMMUNITY: THE PRACTICING BAR IN A MIDDLE-SIZED CITY. By Joel F. Handler. Madison: The University of Wisconsin Press, 1967. Pp. xiv, 224. $7.50.

The author of this book has attempted to add another dimension to the sociological literature on the American bar by applying to a middle-sized, diversified Midwestern city the same techniques used by Jerome E. Carlin in his study of the New York City bar, Lawyer's Ethics (1966) and comparing the respective findings.

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY OF THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE OF 1954. By F. Morse Hubbard. Prepared for the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation. Washington, D.C.: United States Government Printing Office, 1967. Pp. VII, 1374. $9.00.

This volume collects all the changes made in the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 from the date of its enactment on August 15, 1954, to the end of the first session of the 89th Congress in 1965, but does not include committee reports and hearings on Congressional debate.

A LOVE AFFAIR WITH THE LAW. By Morris L. Ernst. New York: The Macmillan Company, 1968. Pp. 181. $5.95.

This book is an enthusiastic account of Mr. Ernst's long legal career.

THE LOGIC OF CHOICE: AN INVESTIGATION OF THE CONCEPTS OF RULE AND RATIONALITY. By Gideon Gottlieb. New York: The Macmillan Company, 1968. Pp. 188. $5.95.

The author discusses the function of rules and rationality generally, and specifically analyzes the importance of rules in the controversies concerning legal positivism and natural law, legal realism and stare decisis, and the relationship of legal and moral rules.

A TALE OF TWO COURTS: JUDICIAL SETTLEMENT OF CONTROVERSIES BETWEEN THE STATES OF THE SWISS AND AMERICAN FEDERATIONS. By William Gorham Rice. Madison: The University of Wisconsin Press, 1967. Pp. viii, 133. $6.00.

This book is a survey and comparison of the performance of the highest courts of the United States of America and the Swiss Confederation in settling disputes between their respective component states and cantons.
